Grade 3 Newsletter – January in Review

Happy 2020! We are back in the swing of things here at The International School of Warsaw! We have been busy getting used to routines and learning. We are so excited to have Mrs. Aldona back in our classroom!

In English Language, we are continuing to practice past foundational skills as well as learning new skills. This month we focused on long vowels. Students were also introduced to our novel "Gulliver's Travels". We will be doing short oral presentations about the novel to try to remember details clearer. We will continue to read short stories and build vocabulary.

In Mathematics, we worked in our books with addition, subtraction, multiplication and division. Since this is a lot of review, they have been flying through the unit. Our next math unit will be on measurement and working with those skills. There will be a unit 2 test coming up soon after break.

In Social Studies, we have been learning about the migration trails of the First Nations people. We also learned about the means and methods of how they caught their food. We will continue to learn about the regions that they lives and moved to.

In Science, we studied the planets in our Solar System. We did a s hort project where students created their own planet, and had to name it and write one small fact. We also learned the importance of washing hands and preventing the spreading of germs. We also talked about the importance of Recycling and how it makes a difference in the world we live in.

In Art, we created Andy Warhol prints. We traced and cut out hands and placed our handprints to create a color pop! Students loved this activity! We also created a "falling snow" snowman where the method was to focus on angles. They enjoyed this art as well.

Happy January!
