Grade 2 Newsletter – March in Review

Families and Friends, Hope you are all well,
especially during this very uncertain time.

I would like to say that I have been very pleased with the students and their ability to adapt in an online setting. Well done and keep it up!

The students have been learning a lot in our virtual classroom and have been working very hard.

Here are some highlights of this month:

In Language Arts, the students have been reading the story “Clean Clothes” and have been learning about how people washed their clothes in the past. They have also learned about different types of sentences such as Declarative and Interrogative sentences. The students have written descriptive pieces about why it is important to wash your hands after an activity.

In Math, the students have been learning to divide numbers and have solved word problems orally. The students were encouraged to learn clue words in class to help them know whether to multiply or divide.

In Science, the students have been learning about camouflage and about migration. A few examples of animals that migrate are monarch butterflies, whales, birds and locusts.

In Art, the students learned about the famous artist, Pablo Picasso and about his life. They looked at some of his famous art work and then created their own using colours and shapes!

Happy March!

Miss. Sandra
