Grade 0 Newsletter – November in Review

Dear Parents,
It's hard to believe that we are entering our fourth month at school as we say goodbye to another month. Christmas is fast approaching and the children are already excited knowing that Santa comes in December!

In November, the students learned about World Kindness Day, which is celebrated on November 13.

The children were busy learning about the 'Five Senses' and the body parts through exploration and learned about how we use our senses in everyday life.

We also continued our weekly routine counting and identifying numbers up to 13. The students also learned the letters J, K, L, M. We worked on letter and number recognition through games, poems, worksheets and songs.

During this month, we also introduced sights words in class.

In Art, the students have been making winter crafts. I really enjoyed seeing their beautiful Winter Snowmen!

I am really excited for December as it is a special month for many reasons! Not only does the big guy in the red suit come next month but it's also a great time to learn about Christmas traditions and the winter season!

Happy November!

Miss Sandra
