

April

Grade 5 Newsletter – April in Review

Introduction... April showers will bring May flowers, or so we hope. While the weather has been all over the place this month, we have been hard at work with several projects and assignments already behind us.

In English Language, we began working on our speeches for the speaking contest and presented a practice speech in front of the class. We also completed practice reading comprehension tests and finished up our research reports by completing traced portraits.

In Mathematics, we finished up the topic of transformation with reflection practice and began looking at grids and coordinate planes.

In Social Studies, we are continuing to see the differing responsibilities of the federal, provincial, and municipal governments when it comes to water, recycling, and waste management. Students showed mastery of material on a unit test.

In Science, we have begun looking at the last unit, identifying differences between animal and plant cells, and learning about the different systems of the body. We began with the musculoskeletal system and a group skeleton labeling project.

Happy April!
