

Grade 7 December News

Language Arts...

We began the third unit in the Keystone books, looking at biographies of people who were successful. We reviewed complex sentences with restrictive adjectival clauses and wrote a compare-and-contrast paragraph while reviewing simple grammar. We continue to work on our independent novel and are coming to a close with The Maze Runner.

Mathematics...

Students have continued to work through their CCC books. This month was more so group focused. Next month we plan to hit the ground running and do more individual tasks related to math.

Science...

We're working on the digestive system, which organs are part of the tract and which organs assist. We covered the shapes of teeth and completed a cooperative homework activity.

History...

This month, students are working diligently to complete yet another project on inventions of the 19th and 20th centuries: we have everything from electric motors and radiotelegraphs to the contributions of Marie Curie and Nicola Tesla.
