

Grade 7 January News

Language Arts...

We began the new calendar year with a new short story, The Marble Champ. We read about a girl who learns to play marbles and practiced our own marble skills. It's safe to say, playing marbles isn't easy. We are tackling writing biographies of our classmates. We typed our work and illustrated an image that represents the individual. We continue to expand our vocabulary with weekly spelling quizzes.

Mathematics...

Students have been using their geometric skill sets to understanding mathematical equations from the perspective of 3D shapes and angles.

Science...

Students explored different types of body systems like the digestive system, cardiovascular, and the blood.

History...

The new calendar year brings new topics and more activities. Students are working on understanding: the changing society and mass culture at the turn of the century, workers conditions, political parties in Poland and the Revolution in Russia in 1905.
