

December

Grade 1 Newsletter – December in Review

Introduction...

This month we were finally able to perform for our families and friends in our Christmas Show! We ended the semester with candy canes, a Christmas movie and Christmas Bingo – all dressed in our finest pajamas!

In English Language,

We started to learn about consonant blends and digraphs that will help us read our novels next semester. We learned about different countries, their traditions and their flags. We also learned descriptive writing techniques and how to visualize when reading or listening to a story!

In Mathematics,

We learned about even and odd numbers and learned how to count forwards and backwards – even to 100!

In Social Studies,

We learned about the meaning of respect and demonstrated ways we can respect people, places and animals. We also identified our changing roles and responsibilities. We also studied the Christmas traditions of countries throughout the world.

In Science,

We dived deeper into living things, discovering ways in which they move and how they survive.

In Art,

We were busy making Christmas ornaments that represented countries around the world: a Japanese crane, Norwegian paper heart and an Italian “La Befana” broom!

Happy December!
