

Grade 7 February News

Language Arts...

We have started next few readings and looked at the way the Earth is changing. We have created short advertisements for environmentally-friendly products and practiced our Spelling Bee words every week. We began our new novel, which we will be reading together in class, and took a look at some literary elements, especially: point of view, characterization, setting, personification and irony.

Mathematics...

Students have recapped all that was learned in math from the previous month and have reviewed the material through various methods of formatting.

Science...

Students explored body systems and participated in presentations over their chosen section in Polish, while understanding the terms in English. Students participated in study games and will continue systems into March.

History...

Students have done a great job working on their game board project. The task was creating a game for four people that covered the different topics of World War I, from alliances, to revolutions, to the course of the war.
