

Grade 7 March News

Language Arts...

We began doing research for our research report projects on different states in the United States. We continued reading Part One of The Book Thief and completed some comprehension questions. We looked at a short excerpt from an autobiographical story written by Ruby Bridges, one of the first children to be integrated into a previously all white school. We also competed in our school spelling bee.

Mathematics...

Financial literacy has been the key for many of the grades this month including 7th grade. Learning how to maintain money, recognizing economic changes that affect money, and weighing the pros and cons before making purchases.

Science...

Students are continuing work in body systems from Immunity to the Respiratory system. The students had a great time during the Science project days and will be continuing through body systems through Easter.

History...

Students presented their board games and were able to play other games, reaffirming their knowledge of different topics from WWI. Students also learned about the Second Polish Republic and how Poland gained independence again.
