

Grade 8 February News

Language Arts...

Students continued to learn grammar, honors level reading, and wrote both persuasively and creatively. Students will continue into March with Unit 4, honors level reading, and publishing a literary magazine based on a class culture phenomenon: a bug that flew into the room one day. Be sure to look out for the next newsletter's feature!

Mathematics...

Students have once again reviewed all content that was learned the previous month through both individualized and group formatting.

Science...

Students continued from evolution into population, ecology, and extensions on how modern industries are using the information for their futures.

History...

Students have done a great job working on their game board project. The task was creating a game for four people that covered the topics of life under communism in Poland from 1956 to the 1980s.
