Grade 2 Newsletter – October in Review

In this month of October the students have been very active with our studies despite the cool weather coming in. I appreciate their enthusiasm to make our class more engaging!

In English Language the students have been reading various short stories about growing up. We've also been brushing up on our grammar and familiarize ourselves with nouns and pronouns. Recently the children have been writing simple sentences in future tense.

In Mathematics, the students quickly learned how to round numbers up or down in the tens and they've practiced with a game of bingo. Recently we've been practicing subtraction with two digit numbers and regrouping as well.

In Social Studies, we've been studying about traditional food from around the world. This month I asked students to work in pairs and search a country with its traditional food. Then, on a post they drew the food with the country's flag and described it.

In Science, the children finished learning about animals living in certain homes. And with that, we went outside to scavenge materials to build a bird's nest. These days we are studying about how animals adapt in different environments.

In Art, we have been creating work for the fall season while using and understanding the tones of colors. The class have also been doing some artwork for Halloween with watercolor painting.

Happy October!
