Language Arts...

The students have been doing a lot of role play from the novel that they are reading (Because of Winn-Dixie). They've been practicing how to change their tone of voice when reading different characters as well as making up their own dialogues in-between narrated lines.

Math...

Students continued to work on different fraction problems. We looked at adding, subtracting, multiplying, and dividing mixed fractions. We played fraction basketball in class and completed a short quiz.

Science...

The students have been learning about the different types and structures in the roots of plants. They now know that they are many different kinds of roots.

History...

Students worked on creating a medieval city plan filled with among other things: gateways, moats, the pillory. Students presented these to the class. Students also learned about different types of architecture in church buildings and village life during medieval times.
